

a)

The present invention consists of materials and a processing method for coating rigid-rod poly(ionomers) or salts thereof, in a solvent system, directionally on charged surfaces resulting in the formation of liquid crystal display surfaces with planar alignment and pretilt.

[illegible]